Please contact me ASAP to discuss the best way to get the message listed below out to the largest number/type of FTA web visitors possible. I'm guessing we would use the What's New carousel, but I'd like the GovDelivery tool utilized to its fullest capability, so posting in multiple places is optimal.

Thanks.

Great. Please post this:

The Final Environmental Impact Statement review and comment period for the Honolulu High Capacity Transit Corridor Project that was previously scheduled to close on August 16, 2010, has been extended by the Federal Transit Administration for an additional ten days and will now close on August 26, 2010. A notice in the Federal Register regarding this extension will be published on August 20, 2010.

How about you send me something I can post to the website. I can tweet it with a link. I have other ways to get it to thousands of regular FTA web visitors.

Dave:

Peter agreed to extend the review and comment period on the Honolulu FEIS for an extra ten days. It was scheduled to expire on Mon., 8/16 and now will expire on 8/26. We are having difficulty getting the word out. It won't appear in EPA's notice in the Federal Register until next Fri. (8/20) and their website on 8/19. The project sponsor now says they need a letter from FTA before even updating their website. I know NOTHING about Twitter, but is there a way to twitter this?

Thanks much,
Nancy-Ellen
